

English in Public Communication

Program type: undergraduate (first-cycle)

Study mode: full-time

Number of semesters: 6 (3 years)

Tuition fee: 5200 PLN /year

About the program:

- integrated approach to public communication in such domains as: politics, culture, society, management, business, technology;
- practical English courses comprising reading, listening, speaking, and grammar;
- exemplary elective modules: English in Business, English in Media, English and Polish as a Foreign Language.

General qualification criteria:

- Maturity diploma or an equivalent (i.e. secondary school leaving certificate);
- Subjects: English and any subject of your choice (except English);
- B2 level language proficiency in English (confirmed with a recognized certificate or an online oral exam).

Future career prospects:

Our graduates can find employment in a broad range of fields involving:

- public communication, such as advertising, journalism, publishing, public relations and public affairs, business communication, marketing, and education;
- public administration;
- cultural institutions, corporations or NGOs.

